

SELFISH PLOTTING, BICKERING PLAGUE CAUSE OF CHIANG

Continue In Spite of The Present Desperate Position

WILL TO RESIST Nationalists Also Probably Have The Strength To Repulse

Bickering and selfish plotting still plague the cause of Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek, despite its desperate position. But strangely, an air of determination and even guarded optimism is to be found, at least on the surface, among his key leaders now digging in for an expected communist invasion of Formosa. This is the second in a series of five revealing articles based on a first-hand survey on the outlook for "Chiang's Last Stand."

"Chiang's Last Stand" Chapter Two By Howard Handelman

Far Eastern Director, INS KAOHSIUNG, Formosa, June 13—(INS)—Two major questions about China today are:

Have the Nationalists the strength to defend Formosa? and

Have the Nationalists the will to defend Formosa?

On the surface evidence, both questions could be answered affirmatively, but each answer would have to be qualified.

As of today, the Nationalists probably have the strength to repulse Red invasion attempt, but there is the unknown factor of how much aid the Russians will give the communists to support an amphibious attack.

The Nationalists also seem to have the will to resist invasion, now that they are left without any further territory into which they can retreat.

But the complete unity, which the Kuomintang has been trying to achieve since 1923, still has not been won.

Generals without armies and politicians without jobs are on Formosa in abundance, struggling and plotting to get back into the picture. Continued on Page Four

THE TROJAN WHALE

Over the centuries, the mighty whale has been the victim of cruel capitalistic exploitation and greed. He cannot be blamed for resorting to such treatment and doing his best to circumvent it. So it is not surprising to read in Izvestia that when communist fleets go out to liberate him, he greets them joyously and blesses the name of Stalin.

The Moscow publication says communist whalers, despite their inexperience, have begun to prove that collectivist methods — at least if they are rigidly Marxist-Stalinist — get more whales. The rugged individualism of capitalism makes the chase a matter of every boat for itself. But the comradely Russians all gang up on one whale, and treat him as they treat all whom they liberate. They sink the harpoon into him.

If they had read the Bible, they might have learned of a method even better adapted to communist tactics. A man named Jonah once found himself inside a whale, but not having read Marx, he didn't know how to bore from within. A whale got away.

The Greeks had quite an idea, too, with their Trojan horse. Communism, which is a great spur to invention, should not have too much trouble working out uses for Trojan whales. Why, they'd beat snorks all hollow! If communism is better at catching whales, it should be better at using them.

If the whales catch onto present methods, communists can easily devise others. A typical four-hour speech on dialectic and deviationism by a political commissar should convince any whale that he has been out-spouted.

Capitalists who catch whales find various commercial uses for their by-products, dissecting them for whalebone and rendering the carcass for whale oil. But it must be admitted that the Russians are the first to render a whale for banana oil.

HIGH-PRICED PLENTY

Senator Williams of Delaware has lost his lonely battle in behalf of sanity in the federal farm program. For months he has banged away against continuation of the 90-per-cent-of-parity supports of major crops. He has supported for immediate use of the flexible supports (75 to 90 per cent of parity) which he regards as a tolerable compromise. He has shown up glaring discrepancies in the handling of funds used to make crop loans and purchases.

But he and a few colleagues couldn't make a dent in the vast farm bloc that in this election year comprises nearly the entire membership of the U. S. Congress. The Senate by a 46 to 5 vote has gone along with House action in approving $2,000,000,000 more for the Commodity Credit Corporation. The high level support will continue until 1952.

The $4,000,000,000 worth of surplus grain, cotton, peanuts, butter, eggs and other foodstuffs now on hand will keep on deteriorating. The public will keep on paying a double penalty—first in support funds and second in higher prices at the store.

Council Awards Fire Hose Contract; Buy Booster Tank

borough officials, Dennis J. Roche stated.

He also informed that the water tank at Green Lane is to be painted.

Mr. Roche said that delinquent water rents are to be collected and those who are delinquent are advised to pay at once or the water service will be discontinued.

The street and highway committee of council, it was reported by James Eagan, its chairman, will confer with the Mill Street Business Men's Association concerning the hanging of banners across the street.

Mr. Eagan told council that he had visited the borough dump three times recently and that the offensiveness of the dump is three times worse than it has ever been reported to council. He asked for an appropriation of $900 with which to engage a responsible borough employee to take the proper care of the dump. The request was granted.

It is Mr. Eagan's plan to really keep the dump in good order and to rid the community of its objectionable features.

Mr. Eagan also stated that the Camden Fabric Mills Inc., recent purchasers of the former Grundy plant contemplate changes in the railroad siding on Canal street and the building of a platform on Canal street. Plans will be submitted.

The monthly report of the police showed the following:

Held for court, five; fine, 16; committed to county prison, 5; continued, one; committed to mental hospital, three; discharged, six.

Lodgers sheltered, 88; lights reported out, 40; alarms answered by radio car, 463; alarms answered by Bristol Township radio car, 66; fined for parking violation, 78; miles radio car was driven, 8991; dogs destroyed, two; cats destroyed, four; emergency messages, one; ill persons assisted, one; assisted rescue squad, one; lost children returned, four; doors found unlocked, one; collected from parking meters, $1237.29; pedestrians injured in automobile collisions, two; auto accidents investigated, 19; pedestrians killed, one; pedestrians injured, four; property damaged only, three.

Motorists arrested for speeding, three; passing stop sign, two; passing red light, three; unnecessary noise, one; reckless driving, two; overtaking and passing in restricted area, one; parking summons, three.

John H. Wiesner reported that the fire apparatus had been inspected and all had been found to be in good condition. He also submitted bids for 1500 feet of 2½ inch fire hose and for 500 feet of 1½ inch fire hose. The contract was awarded to the Eureka Fire Hose Co. The price is $1.50 per foot for the 2½ inch hose and $1.09 for the 1½ inch hose.

The Ahrens-Fox Co. was given the contract to provide a booster tank for a fire truck for the sum of $598.85.

William Wallace reported that the new grass mowing machine for the Recreation Board had arrived and has been in operation. Francis J. Byers informed council of the meeting of the Bucks County Boroughs Association to be held at Newtown June 20th. He also told of the State Association of Boroughs meeting in Philadelphia June 26th and 27th.

Burgess I. J. Hetherington read the resignation of Dr. H. Richard Giordano as a member of the Recreation Board and named Alfred E. Lewis to serve for the unexpired term or until February 1953. Dr. Giordano stated that he was unable to attend regularly the meetings of the Board.

John Smoyer, 3rd, president of council, presented a petition signed by over 500 persons. The petition was referred to the Ordinance

The Child With No Friends

By GARRY CLEVELAND MYERS, Ph.D.

SUPPOSE you were a boy seven years old and had no playmates that liked you.

"Dear Dr. Myers:

"I have a seven-year-old boy from whom I can seldom, if ever, extract the truth. He never leaves the house to play but that he returns crying because someone has mistreated him, or some one of the children come to tell me that he has done something to them. This he always denies; he never does anything. It's always the other fellow. Consequently all the children avoid him and refuse to play with him. He is a very poor sport, cries easily and is undoubtedly spoiled because somewhere I have failed in my understanding.

Deepest Needs

"What does a 7-year-old require for happiness? What are his deepest needs besides understanding love? Frankly I am confused and would appreciate your candid advice."

In part I answered her: My heart goes out to that boy, even out to your mother. I know how hard you have tried and how discouraged you must be. You have given that boy words of advice and endearment but not in an endearing tone and atmosphere. Your words about his getting on with the other boys have no meaning for him but to make him feel more helpless and hopeless.

You have turned yourself into detective and prosecuting attorney forcing him to lie. Impossible for love and affection to flow between your heart and his as long as he knows you have no faith at all in his word.

Step By Step

He won't learn just from your words how to get along with the other boys; he must learn gradually, step by step, how to do it and this is very difficult. If you go out where he is among the playmates they will resent your presence as the lad turns to you for protection. Perhaps you could hire another boy a few years older than he to supervise him among other children, teach him some play skills and guide him to be more acceptable of these children.

Try to attract his playmates one or so at a time to your home where you and his father can study this boy and guide him and them in enjoying some creative fun, as of making things with tools. Also you might be able to enlist the interest of a teacher to study and guide this lad on the school playground. A few summers in camp might help. As soon as he is old enough induce him to be a Cub Scout.

In the meanwhile, when he comes in crying let him know he will have to fight his own battles and settle his own quarrels. From now on never put him on trial or ask him to testify against himself.

Committee of Council to report at the next meeting.

To the members of Borough Council Bristol, Bucks County, Pa.

Gentlemen:

In order to preserve as far as possible the appearance of the streets in our community, in particular in those sections of the town where building lots are still available, we respectfully request you to consider and pass an ordinance whereby persons intending to build on vacant lots or intending to alter existing houses or buildings shall be required to have the front line of such new construction conform to the property line established by other dwellings or buildings in the same block. By preventing construction beyond the presently existing front property lines, we believe such an ordinance will materially improve the general appearance of our community.

Upon the motion of Nicholas F. Pascale, second ward councilman, the borough secretary was authorized to procure data relating to the purchase of a Diesel engine to generate power for use at borough operated plants, such as the sewer and water plants. Pascale argued that the borough is spending a tremendous amount of money for current purchased from the Philadelphia Electric Company and could save a large sum by generating its own power.

A permit of approval was received from the State for the proposed sewer plants alterations and enlargement plans, as submitted by the borough consulting engineer, William H. Boardman.

Justice of Peace, Anthony Nicol, turned over $106 for various fines collected through his office.

THE GREAT GAME

OF POLITICS

By FRANK R. KENT

No Excuse For Inaction

Washington, June 13.

WHAT is the matter with this country? What is the trouble with its people? Beyond question the Constitution gives us the best system of government ever devised. Beyond question, our system of free enterprise, under which the nation has become the richest and most powerful in the world, is unmatched anywhere.

WHY, then, when the very existence of these things is threatened, are the citizens in the mass so stupid and inert as to double the danger and treble the cost? At this time there are pending two great public proposals, both of which are vital to the health and even life of the republic. Yet, though the facts are undisputed, so far, it has been impossible to arouse the sort of public support essential to their adoption. This failure deeply reflects upon the intelligence and character of the people.

ONE is the Hoover plan for reorganization of the Government; the other is the Baruch plan for legislation which in event of war will make possible immediate effective mobilization of all our resources, material as well as manpower. From neither of these proposals is it possible reasonably to dissent. The arguments for them are strong and urgent. Literally no one contends they are not wholly in the national interests. No one suggests there is a trace of politics in either. Yet, though they are so clear that the average first-year high school student could understand, the average voting adult does not seem to.

THE Hoover plan is designed to reduce the enormously swollen, duplicating, overlapping, conflicting and confused Federal machine to manageable proportions, to have it once more make sense. Informed men are convinced that unless this is achieved this session, the last chance will have been lost; that size, cost and unwieldiness will increase until the whole business calamitously bogs down of its own weight. The Hoover plan, representing two years' work of able and unselfish men, would avert this inevitable collapse, restore reason to the Government and by increased efficiency save more than $2,000,000,000 annually.

DESPITE all this and despite the overwhelmingly favorable sentiment for the Hoover plan, less than half of its recommendations have been adopted and nothing like the full potential of either economy or efficiency will be realized. The reason is that the people have failed to make their feeling so effectively felt as to prevent their representatives in Congress from yielding to the powerful jobholders' lobby and the numerous "pressure groups" determined to hold their own. Mr. Hoover has indicated that in a forthcoming speech he will go as far as the English language permits in naming names and fixing blame for the sabotage of reforms so terribly needed for the national stability. It is to be hoped he does exactly that.

AS FOR the Baruch plan, the failure to act seems even less defensible. All Mr. Baruch, who, like Mr. Hoover, is above suspicion of partisanship or selfishness, urges is that in the event of a third world war we do not repeat the tragic blunders of World Wars I and II. "Must we persist," he asks, "in the mistakes of the past? Wasn't the price of neglect in the last war high enough? Its needless prolongation by a year meant a hundred billion dollars needlessly added to the cost of the war and hundreds of thousands killed and wounded needlessly." To avoid the eighteen months' costly delay of the last war before complete mobilization of our economic and industrial power — men, money, food, factories, profits, prices, taxes and wages — Mr. Baruch urges that we achieve mobilization readiness before war begins.

THIS does not mean going on a war basis now. It does not mean "regimentation." All it means is that we be ready to do the thing we must do if war comes immediately instead of again bungling and delaying for many months at stupendous cost in lives and treasure. The plan is that bills to effect full mobilization be enacted now but go into effect only if and when war comes. The argument is, first, that this is the surest way to prevent war; second, that if war cannot be prevented it is the surest way to win at the least sacrifice. As with the Hoover plan, there seems no argument against the Baruch plan. At any rate, none worthy of the name has been presented. Failure to enact these two proposals simply cannot be defended. Failure would be worse than unintelligent.

RANCH TYPE COMPACTNESS

ANOTHER VERSION of the ever-popular modern ranch type home. This particular model is not long and rambling. It's built compactly with the popular low look. The hip roof lends particularly attractive lines to the siding exterior. A covered porch leads to the door.

THIS PLAN is for house with a basement. Here the garage, one of the bedrooms and the kitchen are larger than on other plan.

BUILT WITHOUT a basement, this house has a utility room that houses heater and tub—also provides generous storage space.

By JOAN O'SULLIVAN

HOME, home—on the range or any place else—this ranch house lacks the long, rambling look so often associated with this popular type. It has a low look, though, and a hip roof that lends unusually attractive lines to the siding exterior.

There are four rooms here and an attached garage. The kitchen looks out on the front of the house. There's generous space for a dining area in the airy corner near the windows. A big utility closet—just right for storing mops, brooms and all manner of cleaning apparatus—is provided for, too.

The living room, also in the front of the house, is good-sized. It has two windows, providing plenty of light and air. One of its attractive features is a large fireplace.

The bedrooms, separated by a bath, are at the back of the house. Each has its own closet. Adjacent to one of them is a convenient closet for linens.

Built with a basement, the garage and one bedroom are slightly larger. More room is provided in the kitchen, too. Without a basement, both rooms and the garage are smaller to provide space for a utility room, which houses heater and tubs.

The house with basement has 15,734 cubic feet; garage, 3,240. Without basement: house, 12,037; garage, 3,012. Ceilings are 8 feet high.

An information sheet giving sketches and diagrams, which will enable you to judge whether this house is for you, is available. Send a self-addressed stamped envelope to this newspaper for the name and address of the firm from which this sheet may be obtained. Ask for "The Barth."

Pageant By Children Is Entitled "Singing Heart"

CROYDON, June 13 — Wilkinson Methodist Sunday School observed Children's Day on Sunday with a pageant entitled "The Singing Heart." The cast included "The Garden of Singing Flowers," Joan Pittman, Pauline Hellerby, Shirley Bennett, June Wilson and June Snyder; Miss Ann Hedrick was Lady Bluebell, and Merle Jane Schmidt as "Joy." The greeters were Patricia Perkins, "Peggy" Dransfield, Sherry Polk, "Bobby" Smith, Dorothy Pittman and Barbara Pittman; "Germanium Girls," Hazel Mundy, Lillian Robinson; "Market Maids," Marie Nickels, Barbara Kratz; "Woodcutters," John McGowan, John Nickels, Harry Smith, Jr., and "Eddie" Rocky. Barbara Schaum was cast as "Mrs. Worthy" and Mae Edwards as "Gratitude." The play was built around "Joy's" birthday party. She, being a rich girl, had everything material but not the things she desired in life. The various individuals took gifts to her. Costumes were in keeping with the roles. Remarks were made by the Rev. Louis Helm and Halston Hedrick.

Strawberries Will Soon Be Ready For Freezer and Table

By Miss Frances Vannoy
Home Economics Extension Rep.
Is there anything better than luscious red strawberries? They'll soon be plentiful for eating fresh, for freezing, or for preserves. If you are going to freeze berries, check your supplies now.

Rigid waxed tubs or square cartons, glass jars, or plastic containers are especially convenient for freezing strawberries. The berries make their own juice, so dry sugar is preferable to sirup for freezing. Use one part sugar to four parts berries by weight. Go easy on the sugar if you have no scale because too much sugar slows down freezing.

If cartons have been previously used, check them for cracks. Juice-leaking packages indicate the seal is not airtight. Melted paraffin can be painted over small breaks to seal them.

Catskill and Premier varieties are excellent for freezing. Wash, hull, and remove damaged berries. Slice, mash, or leave whole as desired; then weigh and add sugar. Stir lightly with a fork. Package, leaving a half-inch head space. Freeze at once.

Shortcake will probably be your first dish with strawberries. For a different treat for the family try this strawberry ring salad. Mix a pint of strawberries, crushed and sweetened, with one cup of cottage cheese and one cup of sour cream whipped. Put in a ring mold and chill. Turn out on a plate. In the center of the mold pile perfect berries with the hull left on. Decorate the edge of the mold with green leaves.

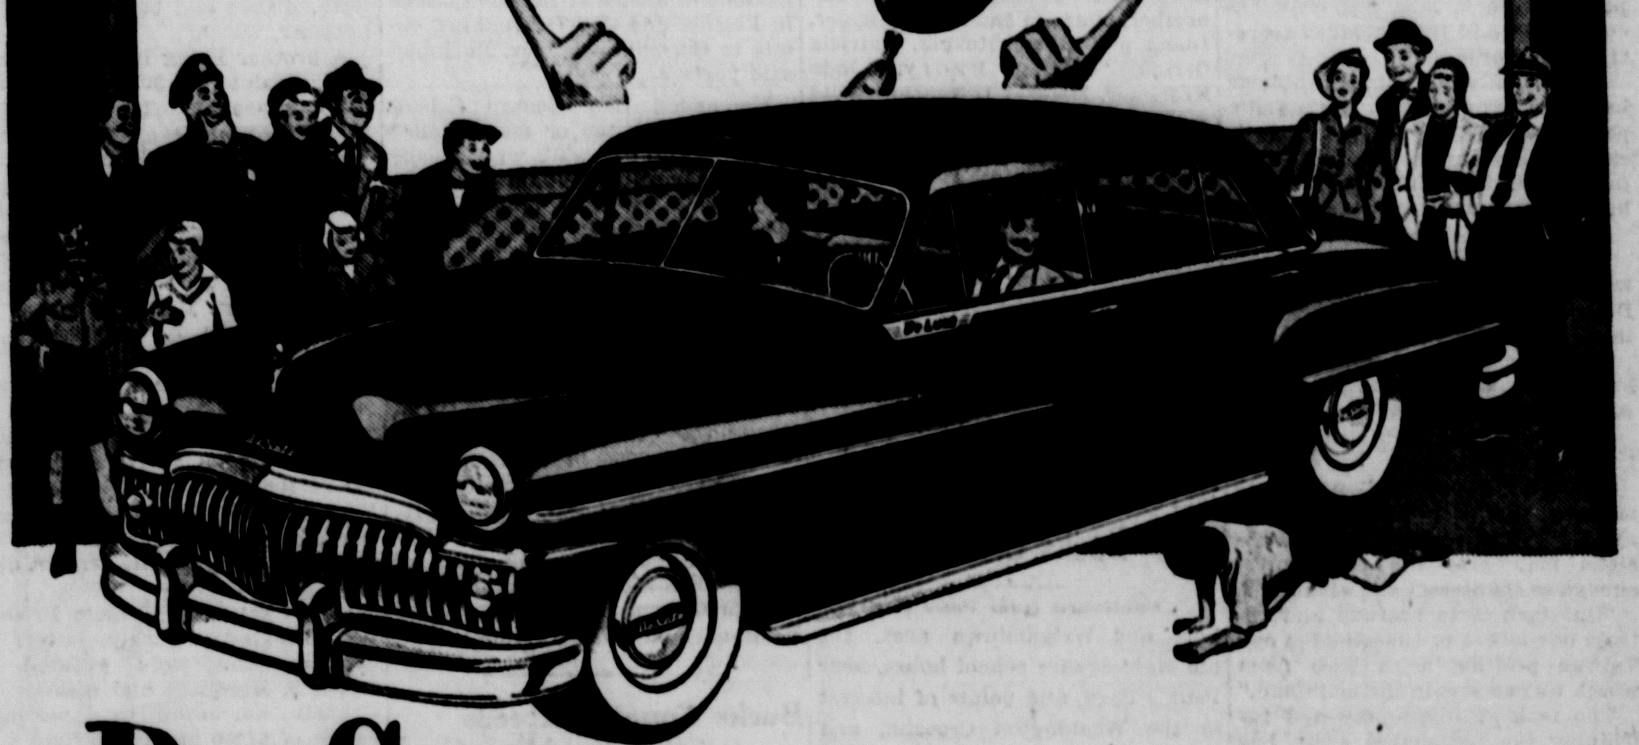

Few foods compare with rich strawberry preserves for flavor or eye appeal, so plan to make a few jars. Look up your favorite recipe, check your supply of jars, lids, and paraffin, then you'll be ready when strawberries are ripe.

Welch To Take Active Part In Summer Theatre

TREVOSE, June 13 — According to Charles E. Welch, Jr., of the Trevose Summer Theatre, old "merrie England" too has been awakening to summer theatre joys. Interest is expected to reach a new high this summer.

Welch, who will be playing several leads at the new Trevose Summer Theatre, took time to study London theatrical productions while he was in the army service. He became so engrossed in British theatrical work that he spent the summer of 1948, as a civilian, studying theatre history and background at Oxford University, attending complete cycle of Shaw Festival at Malvern, and special performances at the Shakespeare Memorial Theatre, at Stratford-on-Avon. He says, "As yet, there is no summer theatre in England of the type we have here, but more and more summer play festivals are being established as regular annual events."

This summer, at the new Trevose Theatre, Welch will be taking an active part in the ten-week program of Broadway hit shows. Their season opens the week of June 26th, presenting Segall's spirited comedy, "Heaven Can Wait."

SOTTILLE CLOUTS TWO HOME-RUNS; SECOND WARD WINS

"Jimmy" Sottille clouted two home runs last evening as Second Ward continued its climb in the Bristol Softball circuit, trouncing the Auto Boys ten, 20-8, on Leedom's field. It was the seventh straight loss for the Auto Boys.

Sottille's two homers gave him a total of seven runs batted in for the evening. He also scored a pair of tallies.

While the Second Warders were crossing the plate at will, the Auto Boys contingent had trouble in hitting "Chick" Stansky. Stansky gave up four hits, two to Elker. The losers failed to take advantage of Stansky's wildness as the Burlington hurler passed 10 batters. In the third, Stansky gave five free tickets to first.

The triumph evened the Second Ward's average for the season with three wins and the same number of losses.

BABCOCK SIGNS DRIVERS TO RACE ON LANGHORNE TRACK

Stover Babcock has just returned from Indianapolis and the annual Memorial Day 500-Mile Auto Race Classic to complete preparations for the next program at Langhorne Speedway on Sunday, June 25.

The jaunt John Babcock made to the Hoosier Racing strip was more business than pleasure. He concentrated on signing Indianapolis cars and drivers for the next Langhorne show which will feature an AAA-sanctioned big car 100-mile National Championship Race, the first title event of the season in the east.

After an absence of almost two years in the racing world, Stover and Willard Babcock, brother directors of the famed Langhorne Speedway, will return to direct the running of this first 100-mile AAA National Championship race.

Success of the June 25 National Championship 100-mile at Langhorne is already assured. Early entries indicate that the field will be unusually large and will include the top-named drivers from all parts of the nation. These will be announced as they are filed officially with the AAA contest board.

Langhorne, the fastest mile dirt track in the world, will be completely dust proof for the 100-mile National Championship race on Sunday, June 25. Time trial to be held on Saturday, June 24, because of the large field that is anticipated.

The PTC buses will again operate on race day from Frankfort Avenue and Pratt street direct to the speedway.

MORRISVILLE BOWLERS MAKE GOOD

In the American Bowling Congress tournament at Columbus, Ohio, Friday night, the Morrisville Gardens team bowled in the "money" with a 2613 score. The team was composed of John O'Neill, Tony Ansilio, Russ Vender, Steve Papp, and Frank Agabiti. O'Neill was high with a 548 score. The Newtown Recreation team failed to finish among the leaders despite a 607 score by Don Sauman in the doubles, a 594 in team play, and a 542 in the singles. Pairing with Ray Worthington, he hit 1127 in the doubles.

VOLTZ TO PLAY SOUTHAMPTON

The Voltz-Texaco team will play Southampton this evening on Memorial Park field in a Tri-County League game, starting at 6:15 o'clock. The Voltz-men have climbed to within a few percentage points of the third place Newtown team. Southampton is tied for first place in the north division of the circuit, having an 8 and 2 record, the same as Flannery's Eagles, of Pennel. Voltz has a 6 and 4 record. Earl Wagner will pitch for the gammen with Bernie Stiles behind the plate.

FRANKLIN WINS OVER JEFFERSON BY SCORE 13 TO 7

Franklin A. C. won over Jefferson A. C. last evening on Memorial Park field and as the result the two teams are now deadlocked for first place in the Bristol Softball League. Final count was: Franklin, 13; Jefferson, 7.

Franklin garnered 15 hits in the fray with all of the regular players getting at least one hit. The Franklin lads took advantage of the wildness of "Johnny" Ciambella to pile up the markers.

In the first frame, Ciambella walked five men and coupled with four hits, Franklin dented the plate seven times. Jefferson came back to score five markers on a single, an error, a fielder's choice, and doubles by Tony Cauti, Peltz, and Anthony Ciambella.

After the first, Anthony Capello settled down and pitched good ball for the ultimate winners, allowing two runs and four hits.

NIGHT BASEBALL TO OPEN AT PENNDEL

PENNDEL, June 13 — The first night baseball game will be played here this evening on the Pennel Memorial field as the Flannery's Eagles meet Newtown in a Tri-County League game. The tilt will start at 8:45 o'clock.

Manager "Jim" Flannery, of the Eagles, intends to start either "Charlie" Martindale or Jack Perry on the mound. The latter is Pennsbury High's star twirler and struck out 13 in his Tri-County debut last week. The catcher will be "Frank" Pursell. Pursell, voted the most valuable player in the Bristol Baseball League last season, has clouted 6 home runs this season. He broke up the ball game with Hustleton on Sunday with a circuit smash.

"Chappy" Gordon will do the tossing for Newtown with Hutchinson behind the plate. Newtown's record is five wins and three losses.
